

PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION
Philosophy 185
Spring 2015

Dana Kay Nelkin

Office: HSS 8004

Office Hours: Tuesday 11-1, and by appointment

Phone: (858) 822-0472

E-mail: dnelkin@ucsd.edu

Web site: <http://philosophyfaculty.ucsd.edu/faculty/dnelkin>

Course Description: We will explore five related and hotly debated topics in the philosophy of religion, and, in doing so, address the following questions:

- (i) What makes something a religion?
- (ii) Is it rational to hold religious beliefs? Should we care about rationality when it comes to religious belief?
- (iii) Could different religions be different paths to the same ultimate reality, or is only one, at most, a “way to God”?
- (iv) What is the relationship between science and religion?
- (v) What is the relationship between morality and religion? Must religious beliefs be true in order for morality to exist?

As we will see, the philosophy of religion leads naturally into just about every other area of philosophy, including epistemology, metaphysics, ethics, and the history of philosophy, and into particular central philosophical debates such as the debate over the nature of free will. This means that you will gain insight into many fundamental philosophical issues in this course. At the same time, the subject matter can be difficult. To do well in the course and to benefit from it, you must be willing to work hard and to subject your own views (whatever they may be) to critical evaluation. Evaluating our conception of ourselves and of the world is one of the distinguishing features of philosophy.

Requirements:

- Short reading responses/formulations of questions (150-200 words for each class meeting; 15 out of 19 required) 30%
- 1 paper in two drafts (about 2200 words)
 - first draft 10% (Due 5/19)
 - second draft, revised after comments 25% (Due 5/28)
- 1 take-home final exam (35%) (Due 6/9, 5 pm)
- up to 5% extra credit for participation in class group assignments and discussion.

Note: A hard copy of your paper, and the take-home final essays must be turned in, and an electronic copy uploaded to turnitin.com on our TED web site.

Note: Each assignment must be turned in order to receive credit for the course.

Specific course topics and readings

Reading can be found on our TED website in the form of PDFs or links to articles. You can access library materials remotely through the library web site.

3/31: Introduction

I. What Makes Something a Religion?

4/2: What Makes Something a Religion?

William James, The Varieties of Religious Experience (excerpt)

George Freeman III, The Misguided Search for the Constitutional Definition of Religion (excerpt)

4/7: What is Religion?

Brian Leiter, Religion (chapter 2 of Why Tolerate Religion?)

II. Rationality and Religious Belief

4/9: The Cosmological Argument

Aquinas, The Five Ways

Richard Taylor, The Cosmological Argument: A Defense

4/14: The Cosmological Argument and The Teleological Argument

William Rowe, An Examination of the Cosmological Argument

David Hume, Dialogues on Natural Religion, excerpt

4/16: The Teleological Argument

Richard Swinburne, The Argument from Design

4/21: The Argument from Religious Experience

Selections of Mystical Experiences

C.D. Broad, The Argument from Religious Experience

Sigmund Freud, The Future of an Illusion

4/23: The Argument from Religious Experience

Patricia Churchland, Brainwise (excerpt)

William James, Mysticism

Barbara Bradley Hagerty, "The Science of Spirituality" (NPR segment, in class)

4/28: The Ontological Argument

Anselm, The Ontological Argument

4/30: The Problem of Evil

David Hume, The Argument from Evil

John Hick, Evil and Soul-Making

Madden and Hare, A Critique of Hick's Theodicy

5/5: The Problem of Evil

William Rowe, The Inductive Argument from Evil against the Existence of God

Marilyn Adams, Horrendous Evils and the Goodness of God

Laura Ekstrom, Suffering as Religious Experience

5/7: Rationality Without Evidence

Blaise Pascal, The Wager

Simon Blackburn, Pascal's Wager: A Critique

5/12: Rationality without Evidence

W.K. Clifford, The Ethics of Belief

William James, The Will to Believe

5/14: The Role and Value of Rationality

Linda Zabzebski, Intellectual Virtue in Religious Epistemology

II. Religious Pluralism and Exclusivism

5/19: Pluralism (FIRST PAPER DRAFT DUE)

John Hick, Religious Pluralism and Ultimate Reality

Edmund Gettier, Justified True Belief

5/21: Exclusivism and Disagreement

Alvin Plantinga, A Defense of Religious Exclusivism

David Christensen, Epistemology of Disagreement: The Good News

III. Religion and Science

5/26: Religion and Science

Richard Dawkins, Science Versus Religion

Stephen Jay Gould, Overlapping Magisteria

5/28: Religion and Science (SECOND PAPER DRAFT DUE)

TBA

IV. Religion and Morality

6/2: Religion and Morality

Plato, Morality and Religion

George Mavrodes, Religion and the Queerness of Morality

Bertrand Russell, A Free Man's Worship

6/4: Religion and Morality

Linda Zagzebski, The Virtues of God and the Foundations of Ethics

David Brink, The Autonomy of Ethics

Notes

- Laptops, phones and other electronic devices may not be used in class except by permission of the instructor.
- If accommodations are needed for a disability or for religious reasons, please notify me during the first class period or as soon as possible.
- The Academic Honor Code must be observed in this course.
Please note that the policies and readings described above are subject to minor change.