Course Description
In this course we will explore the way in which the concepts of freedom and equality have been understood and applied under the United States Constitution. We will ask whether the Constitution is a moral document designed to implement justice or a document designed to enshrine a particular set of traditions into law. We will then look at how the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment has been applied to cases in which government has discriminated on grounds of race, ethnic background, gender, undocumented status, wealth, and sexual orientation. We will also look at how the Due Process clauses of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments have been applied to cases involving the right to make crucial decisions about one’s own life, such as whether to use contraceptives, obtain an abortion, marry a person of a different race, and marry a person of the same sex. Course readings include some of the most important cases in the history of United States law: Dred Scott, The Slaughterhouse Cases, Yick Wo, Plessy, Lochner, Brown, Palko, Carolene Products, Korematsu, Bakke, Grutter, Craig v. Boren, U.S. v. Virginia, San Antonio v. Rodriguez, Plyler v. Doe, Griswold, Roe, Casey, Bowers, Lawrence, and Obergefell. At every stage, we will be asking whether the U.S. Supreme Court’s interpretation of the law in these cases is consistent with justice and the values underlying our constitutional republic.

Course Schedule and Readings
All course readings are available on the TritonED course website (in the Content section). I strongly recommend getting all of the required readings in readable form (whether by printing them out or by downloading PDFs onto a tablet) at the beginning of the course. I will not respond to requests to email you copies of the readings. If you have difficulty locating or downloading the readings, please contact Academic Computing Services (about TritonED).

Course Notes
Lecture notes for some (but not all) lectures are available in PDF format on the TritonED course website (in the Content section). The notes are designed as summaries, functioning as study aids. Important details are missing from the notes. Please do not assume that the notes contain everything you need to know. These notes are protected by copyright, and it is illegal for you to post them on any website, sell them to anyone, or send them to anyone else (including email) without my permission. They are for your personal use only.

Requirements:

- Seven Quizzes 10%
- First Paper (due Monday, January 28, 1pm) 20%
- Second Paper (due Monday, February 25, 1pm) 30%
- Take-Home Final Exam (due Friday, March 22, 1pm) 40%

Grading Policies:
• The two lowest Quiz grades will be dropped, leaving five Quiz grades, each of which will count for 2% of your course grade. The Quizzes will be administered at the very beginning of class, so please plan on getting to lecture on time. Each Quiz will focus on the readings for that day.

• Paper/exam extensions will only be given to those who present evidence indicative of a valid excuse in a timely manner. If at any time you believe you have a legitimate claim to an extension, please bring it to my attention as soon as possible. Unexcused late papers/exams will receive a grade of ‘F’.

• Hard copies of your papers must be turned in to your TA at the beginning of lecture and electronic copies uploaded to turnitin.com (the take-home exam will be turned in electronically, with no hard copy required). It is very easy to upload your papers through the TritonED website for the course. Please make sure that your name appears only on a separate title page, along with the word count of your paper. Your name should not appear in any headers or footers, or anywhere else in your paper. This is to facilitate fair grading.

Additional Notes: Attendance, Electronics, Accommodations, Honor Code

• Regular lecture attendance is mandatory. If you have a scheduled commitment that conflicts with the course lectures, then cancel the commitment or drop this class.

• The use of any electronic equipment other than a note-taking device during lecture is prohibited. The use of such equipment for any purpose other than note-taking is also prohibited. Any student who is watching videos, IM’ing, surfing the web, texting, or engaging in any form of activity that is not directly related to this course or poses a risk of distracting other students during lecture will be asked to leave.

• If accommodations are needed for a disability or for religious reasons, please discuss the matter with me as soon as possible.

• The academic honor code must be observed in this course. Plagiarism will not be tolerated. Anyone caught plagiarizing will receive an automatic F in the course (not just an F on the relevant assignment) and will be referred to the Office of Academic Integrity and the Council of Deans for administrative penalties, which may include suspension or expulsion from UCSD.
