Course Description

The purpose of this course is to develop a mastery of contemporary debates regarding Consequentialist and Deontological theories of ethics. We will focus on modern rather than historical analyses and criticisms of these theories.

Grading

Tests – You will be assigned a single short-answer (250 word) essay question roughly every week. Each essay will be worth 10% of your final grade. There will be no additional final examination for this class (though the last essay will be due during finals week). Each short-answer prompt will be handed out on Friday and will be due on Monday. You will be docked a total of five points on each essay for major grammar errors. ESL speakers should speak to me for special accommodations.

Excuses - I will grant extensions to an essay’s due date for serious emergencies provided suitable evidence is provided afterwards, and for religious observances provided I am informed beforehand. Otherwise, essays will be docked five points for every day that they are late (including weekends). Tests more than two days late will not be accepted.

Readings

All readings for this class are available on the class’s Canvass page.

Contact

When you email me, be sure to include your full name and your student ID. Please email me only from your official UCSD email address. Office hours are Tuesdays from 12:30-1:30 in my office at Ridge Walk Academic Complex, Bldg 1, Arts & Humanities, Room 0458. I am also available by appointment.

Academic Integrity

Any suspected violations of academic integrity will be turned over to the Dean of Judicial Affairs. Details on what counts as cheating can be found here: academicintegrity.ucsd.edu. I will submit all papers to Turnitin, which will determine whether the author has plagiarized from other papers or from Internet sources.

Special Accommodations

Students requesting accommodations due to a disability should provide a current Authorization for Accommodation (AFA) letter issued by the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD), located in University Center 202 behind Center Hall. Students are required to present their AFA letters to Faculty (please arrange to contact me privately) and to the OSD Liaison in the department in advance so that accommodations can be arranged. For further info, see: disabilities.ucsd.edu

Psychological Services

CAPS is an indispensable resource for student life at UCSD. They provide free, confidential, psychological counseling and crisis services for registered UCSD students. CAPS is providing alternate ways of meeting, including video consultations. For more information, please visit here, or contact 858.534.3755.
