Content

This class is organized around the concept of human rights. It is designed to be accessible to students with no philosophical background. We will examine abstract theories related to human rights, both pro and con, as well as more concrete issues and controversies involving rights. Students who successfully complete this class will be well equipped to understand and participate in many prominent debates about rights, both within the United States and beyond.

Assessment

Assessment for the class will consist of:

A short essay (1,000 words) worth 20 percent of the final grade, due 5:00 pm Tue. Oct. 22
A major essay (2000 words) worth 35 percent of the final grade, due 5:00 pm Tues. Nov. 19
An exam worth 45 percent of the final grade
A discussion section mark adjusting the final grade up or down by a maximum of 5 percent either way

How the discussion section mark is determined: students who have no more than two unexcused absences from discussion group will receive a mark of 0-5 based on the degree to which they show up to their section prepared and contribute to discussion. Students who have more than two unexcused absences will receive an automatic discussion group mark of -5 (negative five).

The maximum final class mark will be 100 percent.

General Information

Office Hours

I will be keeping both normal and electronic office hours between 10:00-11:00 on Mondays and Wednesdays. You are welcome to drop by in person or, if you prefer, contacting me via Skype. My skype ID is andy_lamey. I am also available by appointment outside my office hours. I am always happy to discuss any aspect of this course with you.

Submission

Both essays in this class will be submitted electronically. Students are not required to submit a hard copy.
Extensions

Students can obtain extensions of up to 48 hours without requiring a medical certificate or other documentation. In order to grant such an extension your TA needs to receive your request before noon on the day the assessment in question is due (email is fine). Requests received after noon on the due date will require documentation, as will requests for extensions longer than 48 hours. Please note that if you receive an extension your paper may be graded and returned a few days after those that were completed on time.

Late Work

For all short assignments (1,000 words or less), if your work is submitted late without an extension, your mark will be capped at a bare pass (50%). You will probably only receive minimal feedback on your work. Short assignments submitted more than 7 days late without an extension cannot be accepted at all without a medical certificate or similar documentation.

For all assignments of 1,000 words or more handed in after the due date and without an extension, a five percent penalty applies for the first day of the missed deadline. After that, a subsequent penalty of two percent per day will be applied for the next thirteen calendar days after the due date (including Saturdays and Sundays). No assignment can be accepted after more than fourteen calendar days except in exceptional circumstances and in consultation with your professor. Assignments that are handed in late and without extension will be graded and returned after those that were completed on time and will not receive written or other feedback.

Lecture Slides

Lecture slides will generally be available on TED an hour before class.

Technology in the Classroom

Please note that until further notice, laptops and tablets are not permitted in lecture. Your TA will let you know what the policy is in his or her discussion group.

Waitlist

Unenrolled students will be admitted to this class according to their place on the waitlist.
