Here is a list of topics and readings in the order in which we will discuss them. Within a topic, do the readings in the order in which they are listed. Readings are either (A) required or (B) recommended. Required readings are drawn from the two required texts — Joshua Dressler, Understanding Criminal Law and John Doris, Lack of Character (Cambridge, 2002) — and from additional electronic sources, which can be found on Electronic Reserves [ER] or on the TED website [TED]. (I will post my articles and articles we will be reading at the beginning of the quarter on TED; otherwise, required electronic readings will be posted on ER.) Please note that the password necessary for accessing Electronic Reserves for this class should be db137. There may be minor modifications in the assigned readings during the term; you should check periodically to make sure that you are operating with the current version of the Syllabus. I will regularly indicate where we are on the Syllabus (remind me if I don’t). It is very important to read the assignments on time, and it is helpful if you bring the texts we are discussing to class. Full publication details for these readings can be found on the Bibliography.
